Although Fred Junior Block was prominently visible at the recent Wayne County Fair in Belleville, the versatile Romulus councilman definitely was not the fair's auctioneer. That honor went to Bill Sheridan of Howell's Livestock Exchange.

Block did serve as the ringmaster, however.

The erroneous statement that appeared last week caused some concern, and the Associated Newspapers regrets the inconvenience it created.

There were five lucky area winners of the "Kids Day" contest staged in conjunction with the county's 4-H Fair. Free pizza was the prize from Chuck E. Cheese Pizza Time Theatre to the young residents.

The recipients included Belleville's Danny Newton and Jeanie Knox, along with Romulus' Amber Sparr and New Boston's Mary Nazarchuk. Also a winner was Wayne's Jody Serecky.

How about a trip to Agawa Canyon in the Sault Ste. Marie area? The Associated Newspapers is sponsoring a trip to that picturesque canyon Oct. 5, 6, 7 and readers are invited to take part. Round trip via a Greyhound motorcoach will cost $185 (double occupancy) or $214 (single).

If you want further information, telephone the ANP offices at 729-4000 and leave your name and telephone number.

The Belleville Area Jaycees will stage another one in a series of car washes to help raise funds for the Belleville Library. The car wash will be held between 10 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. on Sat., Aug. 28 behind the Fire Station on Main Street.

The Jaycees have raised $350 to help the financially-troubled library which serves residents of Belleville, Van Buren, Sumpter and Romulus.

"We appreciate what the people of these communities are doing," said Steve Shelton, one of the car wash organizers. "They have supported this project 100 percent and we hope they will continue to do so."

Recall in Van Buren leaves 'one big mess'

Although there is some confusion over who has a right to run for offices recently vacated by the ouster of five Van Buren Township board members, all agree that the situation is "presently a mess".

However, the democratic process will be served as outlined by state laws and explained by township attorney Richard James.

There was some confusion whether the two deputies—the deputy clerk and deputy treasurer—since they are appointees of the past administration and not elected by the township voters would be empowered to vote on township business.

James read the pertinent section of the state statute dealing with the recall. The law stated that:

"Upon the filing of the certificate of the Board of Canvassers showing the recall of the officer as herein provided, the officer empowered by law in the event of such officer's absence, death, illness or inability to act shall perform and discharge the duties of the office so vacated until the successor to fill such vacancy is duly elected and qualified as herein provided or until a vacancy is temporarily filled."

James said his research showed "that it is clear under that statute the deputy clerk and the deputy treasurer take the place of the clerk and the treasurer."

James concluded that the two deputies will be able to function in their respective departments and conduct township business and they would join the two other members of the township board to make a quorum.

In this particular case, deputy clerk Delphine Dudick will fill the vacancy created by clerk Doreen Craven's ouster, while deputy treasurer Gabrielle Mussehl will function as treasurer, replacing ousted official Tom Welty. The two members of the board who were not singled out for recall were trustees Darwin Kureth and Thurston Jahr.

However, Jahr lost his bid for the Democratic Party nomination for the seat to political newcomer, Marilyn Montgomery. Therefore, voters in the township will have six (See RECALL, Page 3)

State aid loss to sound knell for schools?

The State of Michigan may have sounded the knell on the Romulus Community School District. The Governor's Office said last week through an executive order that the state aid payments to the depressed school district will be withheld indefinitely.

In a letter from the Department of Education, addressed to the School Superintendent's Office and signed by Robert Hornberger, the schools were informed that:

"The Department of Management and Budget has informed this agency that the partial State Aid payment scheduled for August 20, 1982 will be delayed indefinitely.

"The delay is due to the fact that revenues have not materialized as anticipated, and the State's deficit problems continue. It is likely that the payment will not be made until the listed problems can be addressed.

"This agency will inform you of the possibility of the payment being made as soon as it receives information from the Department of Management and Budget," the letter concluded.

The letter was accepted by Romulus Supt. William Bedell, and, as expected, was another crucial blow to a school district which has already made severe cutbacks because of lack of funds.

"As we understand it," Supt. Bedell said, "they are going to cut our total local and state funds about 2.25 percent. This represents over $300,000 for the 1982-83 school year.

"In addition to this we were supposed to receive an August state aid payment of approximately $500,000 that was postponed indefinitely, according to the state.

"I have no idea how this school district is going to exist because there is a rumor we're going to lose about 40 percent of that $500,000 and when you add the loss of the 8.5 renewal, there's no way this school district can exist," Dr. Bedell concluded.

Earlier this year the voters turned down an 8.5 renewal levy which cut nearly 20 percent of the school's budget, leaving most school officials and teachers frustrated.

The schools will give the voters a second opportunity to approve the renewal when they again go to the polls on Sept. 13. On the ballot in that special election are propositions asking for the 8.5 mill renewal and a half-mill levy for maintenance projects, such as replacement of the asbestos ceilings at Romulus Senior High.

In an effort to clarify the school district's needs, the Board of Education Monday night offered a Fact Sheet concerning school finances.

• The School Board and other interested citizens have worked hard to solve district problems, but they cannot reduce expenses and maintain a reasonable educational program.

• If the millage is not renewed this year, schools will be closed sometime during the 1982-83 school year for three (3) months. This has been explained to officials of the State and they have indicated that they can't help.

• Romulus Schools do not pay unusual salaries or have too many administrators compared to other districts. Our salaries are average for the County and since 1979-80, the Board has cut 91 teachers, 7 administrators, and 36 non-teaching employees. This represents over a 20% reduction in all areas.

• Romulus millage levies are not high compared to other nearby areas. Of nine nearby districts surveyed, Romulus ranks 6th in a school levy and next to last in total levy.

"If the levy fails," Supt. Bedell warned, "on or about October 15 this school district will be without funds to operate. Therefore we will have to close and some 5,500 students will not be able to attend classes and will remain at home."

City teams up with St. Al's for festival

"Say Yes to Romulus"

That's what the City of Romulus officials and St. Aloysius Church members want you to say and do during their first annual Labor Day Festival.

And they hope the spirit of the festival will carry on for years to come.

The Romulus-St. Al's Festival will get under way on Sept. 3 and carry on for three days, including the 4th, 5th and 6th. The program will coincide with the annual Polka-Fest hosted by St. Aloysius.

Featured will be such events as a softball tournament, art show, antique car show, airport tour, casino games, street dances, sidewalk sale and much more.

Anyone interested in renting concession space may do so by calling Gene Perecki at 941-1640 or Tony Kopas at 941-0323.

Kicking off the festivities on Friday, Sept. 3 is a parade through the downtown business district ending up at St. Aloysius Church.

The theme of the parade will be "Say Yes to Romulus".

Anyone interested in entering a unit in the parade may call Kathy McCallum at 941-3092.

Jobless benefits extended

Up to 48,000 jobless Michigan workers could be eligible for up to ten weeks of additional unemployment benefits starting in September and another 60,000 now receiving extended benefits (EB) could be eligible as they exhaust their EB before year's end, S. Martin Taylor, director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC), announced today.

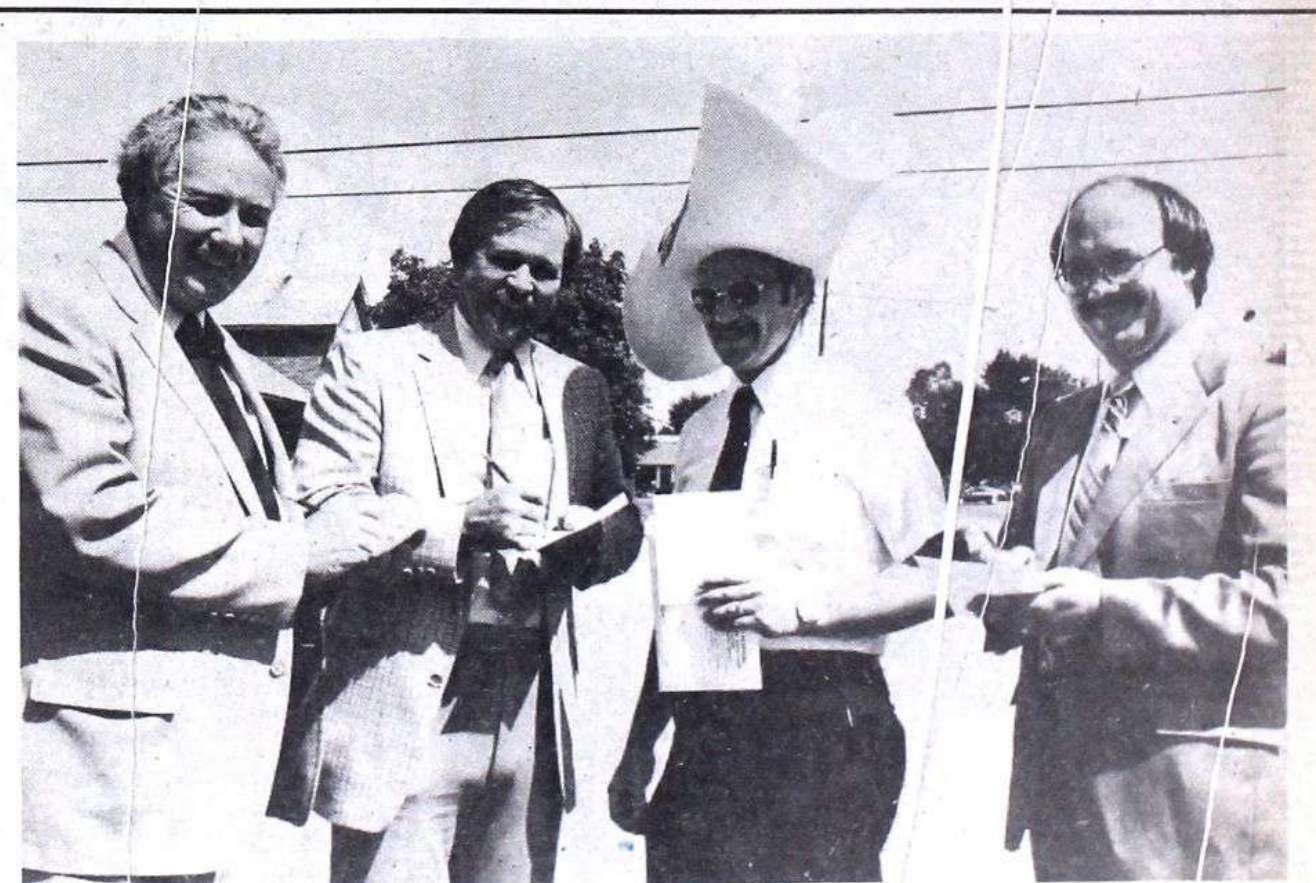

The new benefits program, called Federal Supplemental Compensation (FSC), will be in effect from September 12, 1982, through March 31, 1983, and was included in the federal tax bill passed by Congress on Thursday.

Taylor estimated that the FSC program could mean as much as $162 million in added benefits to the state's unemployed through the end of 1982 alone.

To qualify for these new benefits, jobless workers will have to meet certain requirements:

— They must have exhausted all (See BENEFITS, Page 3)

on Sept. 3 with the city and St. Aloysius Church co-hosting the inaugural Labor Day Festival. Tarkowski is chairman of the festival and those raffle tickets are worth $10,000 to the winner.

Out-patient clinic planned at WCGH

Plans for a modern, out-patient clinic to be built on Wayne County General Hospital grounds by the University Medical Associates, a professional non-profit corporation, were approved in concept by members of the county Human Resources Committee Wednesday.

The plans are subject to a report from the county's Corporation Counsel due at September's Ways and Means Committee session.

According to Michael W. Bradley, Chairman of the County Board of Institutions, the $150,000 free-standing, 23,000 square foot clinic will replace the present "N" building facility, considered old, spartan and not attractive to new patients.

Bradley said the modular facility will accommodate all clinic operations currently housed in "N" building.

Appearing before the Human Resources Committee, Hospital Administrator Dr. E. J. Conklin said the UMA, P.C. has agreed to entirely fund the project on the hospital grounds directly north of the existing parking lot and hopes to complete construction this fall. The UMA, P.C. is seeking a 99 year $1-per-year land lease.

"We strongly believe that this project is paramount to the hospital's viability, state the general medicine clinics are a principle 'gateway' to the institution," Dr. Conklin pointed out. The clinic will add to the present cash-flow of the WCGH.

The project is actually being financed by members of the MSP program, a corporation of doctors formed a year ago to provide service to WCGH. The MSP (Medical Service Plan) was organized in June of 1981 by staff physicians who opted to work under their own corporate structure rather than continue as employees of the WCGH. William Isenstein, who explained the concept of the new clinic, is a member of the MSP management team.

According to Isenstein only medical doctors may become stockholders in the University Medical Associates, P.C. and the proposed clinic will be staffed by MSP doctors and hospital nurses.

Leland, Chairman of the House Committee on Post Office and Civil Service, said: "I am convinced that something must be done to stop the U.S. mail from being used by opportunists to bilk many of our senior citizens of their life savings. It is an honor to be working with Chairman Pepper on this vitally important project."

Commissioners call special meeting

County tackles $17.5 million deficit

The Chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners says he will call a special meeting of the Board "as soon as possible" to consider a new or revised plan to eliminate a $17.5 million deficit projected for this fiscal year ending Nov. 30.

Last week a plan jointly recommended by the County Board of Auditors and the County Fiscal Advisor did not win the 14 votes from the Board necessary for adoption. The vote was 10-yes, 7-no with one abstention.

Board Chairman Samuel A. Turner said that the special meeting will be within two weeks prior to the next regularly scheduled meeting on the Board on Sept. 22.

The plan to be devised, he said, is needed quickly for submission to the State Municipal Finance Commission in a proposal to borrow up to $20 million and to prevent delayed paydays and assure payment for vendors.

Among recommendations and amendments in the plan that was rejected were provisions that would have:

- Authorized the maximum 7.07 mill tax levy allowed on the increase in State Equalized Property Valuation this year.
- Spread elimination of the deficit over a 20-month period, from Oct. 1 through May, 1984.
- Closed the D.J. Healy Youth Home for abused and neglected children for the same duration.
- Eliminated 462 job positions, with 299 actual layoffs, also for the same 20 months.

Without layoffs and drastic cuts in service or an unexpected increase in revenue, county fiscal officers estimate that about $3000 worth of wage concessions would be required from each of about 3500 employees to keep the County solvent through November.

The County Auditors have already officially warned that paydays cannot be guaranteed after last week's on August 20, and that payment of a cost-of-living-adjustment due on Aug. 10 is indefinite.

Also considered at the Board meeting, however, was a proposal to transfer for general use any surplus funds from the County Treasurer's Revolving Tax Fund account, reportedly amounting to more than $6 million. The item was passed for the day to allow deliberation among the Treasurer, County Corporation Counsel and the County's outside Bond Counsel.

Nevertheless, Deputy County Treasurer Leonard R. Remick said the tax fund could furnish at least $2 million for the first payroll in September. About half the county employees are paid on alternate weeks, requiring an approximate $1 million payroll each week.

When borrowing, as it has several times in past years, the county seeks loans from private lending institutions and uses tax anticipation notes as collateral. Although no state money is involved, such transactions require permission from the Municipal Finance Commission.

Mail fraud bill aids senior citizens

Legislation designed to help the U.S. Postal Service crack down on mail fraud schemes that prey upon the elderly and the infirm was outlined today by Congressman William D. Ford (D-Michigan).

The announcement followed agreement between Ford, and Congressman Mickey Leland (D-Texas), with Congressman Claude Pepper (D-Florida), Chairman of the House Select Committee on Aging.

Ford, Chairman of the House Committee on Post Office and Civil Service, said: "I am convinced that something must be done to stop the U.S. mail from being used by opportunists to bilk many of our senior citizens of their life savings. It is an honor to be working with Chairman Pepper on this vitally important project."

Leland, Chairman of the Post Office and Civil Service Committee's Subcommittee on Postal Personnel and Modernization, said: "our recent hearings examining this disturbing problem confirmed the findings made by Chairman Pepper in his committee's extensive study. We are privileged to be working with him on a legislative solution."

The joint bill (H.R. 7044) is a revised version of legislation which had been proposed earlier in this Congress.

Recall creates 'mess' in Van Buren

Political parties to nominate slate of officers

new members of the board come November.
"The people who are appointed now to fill vacancies are temporary appointees who will hold office until their successors are elected and qualified in the November elections," James explained.
Who will fill the three remaining vacancies on the board and who will chair the board meetings until the November election?
"It will be up to the present 4-person board to fill those vacancies," said James. "In the event they do not make appointments within 45 days after the recall certification, then the appointed power goes to the governor."
"There is no requirement as to getting applicants or anything of that sort," James continued. "And there is no particular procedure that they must follow as long as three members of the board agree, then the nomination will be approved."

James went on to say that in absence of the supervisor, the clerk will open the board meetings, ask for a motion for someone to chair the proceedings and if seconded, that person will conduct the meeting.
But moot is the procedure to select candidates for filling the vacancies, James said.

"It's not really clear, but the way I understand the procedure as well as the law is that in a recall situation an entity called the township committee which is actually, I suppose, a sub committee in this case of the 15th Congressional Republican and Democratic Party Districts' committees, make the nomination as to who is going to be their respective party's candidate or candidates to fill the recall positions.

"There is no provision for a primary in this case. The committees themselves, as I read the statutes, have the authority to select nominees on behalf of the party. Those nominees are the candidates who will be placed on the ballot, and any other nominee is excluded at least from running on the party's slate."
Although a recalled official can't run for the office he or she was recalled from, the official may seek office other than the one he or she held.

"However," stressed James, "the candidates have to be designated by their party committee. They are not automatically in the running. They just can't automatically decide they want to be candidates and place their names on the ballot."

"Obviously that restricts people from becoming candidates, such as independents, and I wouldn't be surprised if people challenged that system."
"If fact, I don't know what would happen if a candidate decided he or she wanted to run as an independent because there is no provision whatsoever regarding how you would become a candidate. Do you file nominating petitions? If so, what is the percentage of signatures one would need? There is no primary, so if two file nominating petitions as independents are they eliminated? How does it work? No one seems to have the absolute answers to these questions."
"It's so confusing because of the fact these incidents have been so isolated during the history of our county and the state," James added.

From China to Belleville

A group of mainland China scientists and college professors are touring the United States to learn all they can about the country's agriculture, and the delegation spend time in Belleville at the 100,000 square foot Coykendall Farms (above) to study methods of growing a wide variety of fruits and vegetables. In the photo below are Don Yuchartz, of the Wayne County Extension Service, Mrs. Morris, Dr. Wang Lianzheng, Dr. Sun Han, Dr. Gu Ning Kong, Sylvan H. Wittner, director of Agricultural Experiment Station at MSU. The delegation especially wanted to visit MSU, according to Yuchartz, because of "its international recognition as one of the finest agricultural schools in the world."

MD produce sale

If you want to purchase fresh home-grown garden vegetables and help the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy campaign, head for Jerry Maton's place in Van Buren Township over the Labor Day weekend. The dates of the two-day sale are Sun., Sept. 5 and Mon., Sept. 6.
Maton, of 12175 Beckley Rd., (between Denton Rd. and the I-94 Expressway), will be selling his garden produce to help in the fight of MD. During the past seven years he has helped raise more than $13,000 for the cause.

"As in the past, all the monies raised from the sales of the produce will go to help fight muscular dystrophy," Maton said. "I'm inviting all of our residents and area people to join me in this worthy cause."

Chinese agricultural experts tour Belleville

If you find it difficult during these hard times to feed your family - no matter what size - pause and think what problems you'd have if you were concerned about harvesting enough food to feed a population of nearly one billion.

That's the crucial problem which faces the governing body of the People's Republic of China.
To face the challenge, the government is seeking new and better ways of growing crops, getting more out of each acre of farmland and coming up with finer and more nutritional food stuff.

This week a delegation from mainland China toured Michigan and made stops at East Lansing's Michigan State University, Detroit's Eastern Market and also Belleville's Coykendall and Thornhol-low farms.

"They went away extremely impressed," said Donald Yuchartz, of the Wayne County Extension Service. "The members of the delegation were hand-picked experts in their field and they wanted to see MSU for its world-wide recognition in the field of agriculture."

"These were extremely pleased and I'm sure they will take back to the mainland what they saw and hope to put some of their new found knowledge to work over there. Needless to say when you have nearly one billion to feed, you're going to need all the help you can get."

The delegation was made up of Yu You Tai, President of the Northeast Agricultural College; Qu Ning Kong, Deputy head of the Department for Scientific Exchange, Bureau of Science and Technology, Ministry of Agriculture, Animal Husbandry and Fisheries; Sun Han, Deputy Dean of Jiangsu Academy of Agricultural Sciences; Wang Lianzheng, President of Heilongjiang Academy of Agricultural Science in Harbin.

The delegation, through an interpreter, pointed out that all useable land in China was used for agricultural purposes. Sun Han added "that he was very surprised to see all the land aside from buildings is covered by lawns.

"It looks very clean. You have very rich land resources," he added.

Carnival scheduling prompts club study

The holding of three carnivals within two months this year in Wayne has prompted a study of future carnival scheduling by the city's service clubs.

In calling for a meeting of service organizations to discuss the matter, the City Council Tuesday rejected the recommendation of Community Development Director John Zech, who had proposed limiting the number of carnivals each year to one in addition to the annual Homecoming Festival held in the fall.

Huron holds rummage sale

The Huron Athletic Booster Club will hold its annual Rummage Sale on Labor Day in the Huron High School parking lot.
The three-day sales will begin on Sept. 4 and continue until the 8th from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m.

"We urge residents to clean out their attics and basements and bring anything they want," said Mrs. Arnold Dede, one of the organizers. "The money is going toward a good cause."

If residents have items that are too large to handle and they need help, contact Pat Schiller at 753-9158; Lawrence Martin at 753-4728 or Arnie Doede at 753-4139 and arrangements will be made to pick up the article.

Along with the upcoming Homecoming Festival, Wayne has been the site of three carnivals in 1982, sponsored by the Jaycees (May 12 to May 16), Lions (April 26 to May 2) and Moose (June 7 to June 13).

"The general consensus of the comments I received from residents and merchants," reported Zech, "was that there were just too many carnivals in the city in too short a span of time, or 'Wayne seems to be turning into a carnival town'."

Zech recommended that only one carnival be held during the period of May 1 to July 1 and that it be conducted on a hard surface due to unpredictable rain and ground conditions.

Help wanted:

By STEVE O'LEARY
ANP Special Writer

This is a cry for help.

At the moment, there are more than 400 children in the Wayne County area that are without the most basic of needs: a home. Art Ellis, director of the Foster Care Program at Out-Wayne County Youth Services in Inkster, stressed the need in the area for new foster parents, calling it "urgent."

"The concept of the family," he stated, "is the most important ingredient in the formation of the child's sense of right and wrong. The child's actions, way of thinking, expressions of feeling, and behavior are all

"You're placing children from homes that have much different values than the foster parents do, and the foster parents have some high expectations a lot of times. When we tell them about the kids and some of the things they do, it scare them." — Art Ellis learned within the family unit. We can't deny them the basic right of having a permanent home. Our agency, in cooperation with the Wayne County Department of Social Services, is attempting to serve these children by providing them with foster homes until a permanent living situation can be found."

The foster care system is designed to care for children who must be removed from their natural families for one reason or another. Among these reasons are abandonment, medical neglect and most sadly, physical abuse.

A current waiting list of abandoned or abused children trying to find placement from the Inkster location shows that of the 68 young boys and girls listed, 34 of them are one year old or younger. All but 3 of the 68 are black, so naturally, the most urgent need is for families that can foster black infants and youths up to the age of 17.

"It's a difficult thing for a family to do," said Ellis, "taking in children." Indeed, problems can be numerous, but the results make it all worthwhile. "You're placing children from homes that have much different values than the foster parents do, and the foster parents have some high expectations a lot of times. When we tell them about the kids and some of the things they do, it scares them. This is mostly with the 5-and-up age bracket."

"A problem with infants is that often the foster parents don't want to get back into the 5 a.m. feedings and things, so it's hard. What we're looking for is people who want to make that kind of commitment, to give these kids a chance.

"To be quite honest about it," Ellis said, "I'd have serious thoughts about taking some of these kids in, but most of our foster parents don't mind a bit. And when I talk to them and ask them just what it is they get out of doing this they say 'Well, I like working with kids,' and a lot of times they do see the children behave a lot differently after two or three months. So, a lot of it is an intrinsic kind of reward; you actually see the child's behavior change and begin to adapt to your expectations and begin to share and cooperate in a home environment, which is certainly very often different from the first month of care."

The state reimburses foster parents from $5 to $10 a day "depending on the child's age. It's a break-even system" Ellis said.

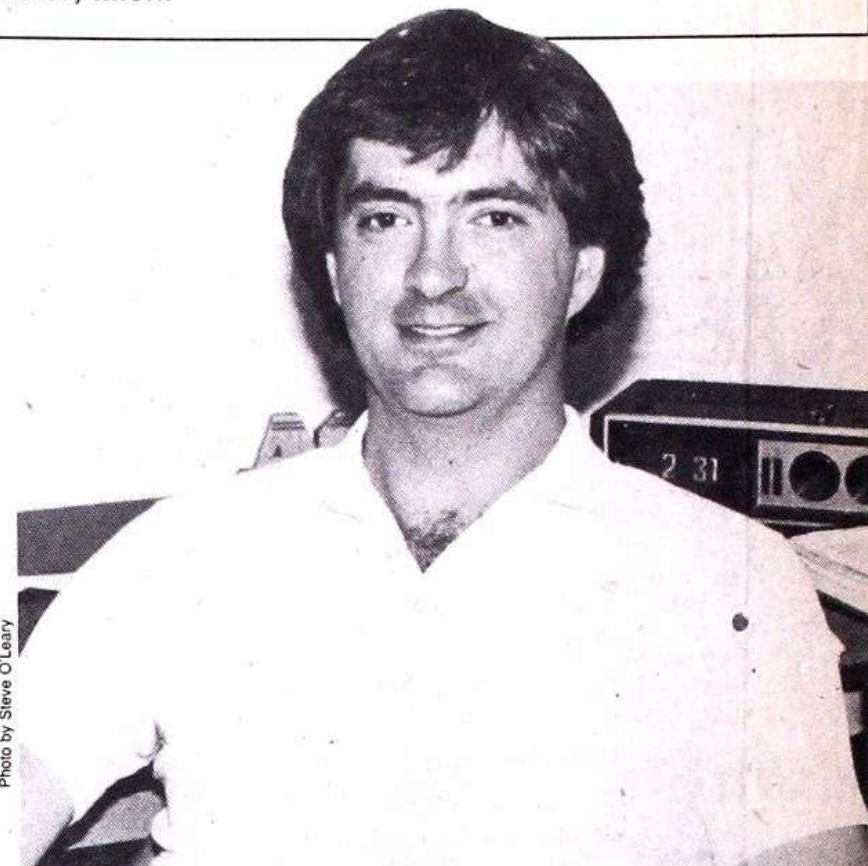

Future foster parents are required to go through a 12-hour training program so they understand the working of the agency; how the children are assessed, how they get referrals, and answers to any other questions they may have. This way, before the foster care license is approved, the adults get an idea of the types of kids that need homes, and at the same time, the agency becomes familiar with the adults and determines if they'd make good foster parents.

Very often, life-long relationships are formed through the foster care program, and Ellis estimates that about 40 percent of long-term foster

"To be quite honest about it, I'd have serious thoughts about taking some of these kids in, but most of our foster parents don't mind a bit. And when I talk to them and ask them just what it is they get out of doing this, they say, 'Well, I like working with kids.' — Art Ellis parents file for adoption. The law indicates that if a child has been living with them for six months or more, then that family has the first chance at adopting him.

It doesn't take a lot of thought to realize that children are extremely vulnerable to the world around them, a world that they interpret as bleak and foreboding. Foster parents can help these kids see another side of life, one they may not even realize exists. And the foster parents can have the satisfaction of knowing that they helped change the lives of the young children, not only for the time they are with the family, but for the rest of their lives, Ellis concluded.

At WC3: 'Moving Ahead' for unemployed

Chief elected officials of Western Wayne County communities were invited to Wayne County Community College's Western Center last week to officially proclaim August 28 as "Moving Ahead Day" - a beginning of a nationwide "opportunities and coping" movement for the unemployed.

On Aug. 28, a comprehensive program will be held at WC3's Western Center to inform the unemployed of career opportunities, assist in job retraining, as well as helping the unemployed cope with their immediate needs and concerns.

"Although we are not promising jobs to these individuals when they attend our seminar on Aug. 28, we are hoping to ease the pain they are experiencing while being unemployed and help them retrain themselves in areas where experts believe there is most opportunities," said Dr. Julius Brown, Western Regional Dean.

No uniforms, no trophies

Attention Romulus South Little League baseball coaches: If you want your team members to receive their awards, all uniforms and equipment must be returned to the league no later than August 31.

League officials urge that uniforms should be returned washed and in good shape.

"No trophies or awards will be presented to team members if the league doesn't get the equipment back," stressed

Mike Wojtolka, league president.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning Wojtolka at 941-4482.

Moving Ahead Day

ville Mayor Justin Emerson, Romulus Mayor William Oakley, Dr. Robert Kopecky, Henry Ford Community College, Director of Center for New Directions, and Jim Reeves, Supervisor of Sumpter Township.

Adult instructor Jean Schneidt (at left) demonstrates a sewing technique to Romulus resident Stella Griffiths, one of many residents who have enrolled in classes to take opportunity in the wide ranges of classes offered by the school district. Romulus Adult classes will begin on Sept. 13. More information may be obtained by telephoning 941-0610.

Romulus Adult Education has something for everybody

As the Michigan Economy continues its downward slide, a record number of residents are enrolling for adult education as an alternative to unemployment.

In Romulus, adult education director Bill Smith is beginning his 11th year of service and sums up the coming year with enthusiasm.

"It is always rewarding to provide a needed service to residents, and with bad economic times, continuing education is needed more than ever," Smith said.

The Romulus program will feature several career-related courses to help adults be competitive in the job market. For students wishing to enter (or re-enter) the secretarial field, classes will be offered in typing, accounting, office skills, business communications, computer science and introduction to business.

Classes designed for students interested in health careers include introduction to medical careers, biology, chemistry, algebra and psychology.

Census studies indicate that 50% of the Romulus adult population has yet to finish high school. Michigan state aid will provide classes free of charge to these non-graduates, while adults who have graduated may enroll by paying a small fee.

Registration for the Romulus program will begin August 30 and continue for two weeks until classes start on September 13. Adults may enroll at 2 convenient locations.

Registration will be held at Romulus Senior High, 9650 S. Wayne Road, from 6-8 p.m. and at old South Junior High, 11401 Olive Street, from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m.

Additional information about Romulus Adult Education can be obtained by calling 941-0610.

Huron enrolls for adult ed.

Don't sit around this fall becoming bored with TV and everyday life. Add some sparkle to your life, and broaden your horizons. The Huron Adult Education at Huron High in New Boston will begin enrolling students on August 30, from 1 p.m. to 9, Monday through Thursday.

New class offerings include dancercise, photo tech, cake decorating and ceramics. A complete high school completion program is also offered. What's best about Adult Education at Huron is the cost-free to non-graduates and those under 20 (book and lab fees are charged, however).

Academic classes are $15, and vocational classes are $25 to those who have already graduated.

Classes begin September 13. Come in to look at our day and night schedules. Call 782-1505 for more information.

Views On Dental Health
By PHILIP MEIZELS, D.D.S.
THE VANILLA ICE CREAM CURE
Here's one cure for a dental problem that you are going to like! The medicine for the cure is vanilla ice cream. Discomfort after surgical curettage (scraping of the tissue deep under the gum) is normal. The tissues may bleed and there is a tendency for the area to swell.
The best home remedy for this problem is vanilla ice cream. Not strawberry, which has little seeds that can get into the area, nor chocolate, which contains cocoa, an irritant. Take some vanilla ice cream on a spoon and place it on the area. The cold of the ice cream acts as a styptic. It stops the leakage of tissues. It also limits swelling since cold helps reduce swelling after a dental procedure. It is also more practical to place a spoonful of ice cream in your mouth than an ice bag. The butterfat in the ice cream acts as an emollient as it flows in and soothes the area.
Ice cream also contains lecithin, which is a wetting agent. It helps the butterfat penetrate. There may be a slight initial shock from the cold ice cream, but the area will feel better immediately. By the way, you can swallow the ice cream.
A public service to promote better dental health. From the office of PHILIP MEIZELS, D.D.S., 9840 Haggerty Rd., Belleville. Phone 697-4400.

"The program, slated to run through August, allows participants to earn and learn at the same time," noted Tom Baldwin, one of the supervisors of the program.

"Emphasis in the program is not solely on earning a paycheck but the participants are required to attend three hours of classroom instruction per week where various facets of the work world are discussed."

Baldwin pointed out that the program stresses "promptness on the job, contacting employers when applying for jobs, compiling a personal resume and other job related activities."

?THE DILEMMA OF DIVORCE?

Are you thinking of divorce? Do you suppose it will cure your marriage problems? Please give us a few minutes to help you clarify the issues. First of all:

DIVORCE LEADS TO DEBT

The only one who profits from divorce is the lawyer; often to the tune of thousands of dollars. But that is only the start, as costs increase while the couple try to maintain separate households. Then there is child support and perhaps alimony. How about loneliness? Costs increase as each partner seeks company in dating. Can you afford it?

DIVORCE LEADS TO DIVISION

Divorce divides families! The children suffer most as they try to divide their hearts. Loyalties are divided when mothers turn the children against dad, and dad likewise. The grandparents suffer not knowing if they will ever see their "babies" again (grandparents have no visitation rights, you know). Relatives on both sides of the conflict begin to take sides and plant seeds of doubt and derision. Are you ready for this?

DIVORCE LEADS TO DELUSION

Escape will not solve your problems nor make them go away. You have to face yourself everyday and you are the problem. Divorce adds more problems, more complications, until the whole matter becomes a sickening mess. Nothing will be better in your next marriage because you will be taking your unsolved problems with you. Some who are no longer able to cope with the mess that they have made of their life take the "Big Leap" and end all with a gun, or a leap from a bridge, or drown themselves in drink. Despair leads to delusion which leads to death, either spiritually, emotionally, or even physically. Can you handle it?

God said, "I hate divorce" (Mal. 2:16). It was never part of His perfect plan for you. If you're troubled, call or visit and let us help you find God's perfect plan for you and your marriage in His Holy Word, the Bible. Brought to you by,

LeCourteur takes part in AFSAC Global Shield '82

Second Lt. Walter E. LeCourteur, son of Walter M. and Doris A. LeCourteur of 20058 Cornell St., Romulus, has participated in an Air Force Strategic Air Command (SAC) exercise called Global Shield 82.

LeCourteur, a missile launch officer with the 741st Strategic Missile Squadron at Minot Air Force Base, N.D., joined others from all SAC units in the United States and selected Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard units to take part in command post and field training exercises.

Global Shield 82 was the fourth such exercise held by the command in as many years. It was designed to enhance readiness and the ability of the command to carry out orders which support U.S. national policy, should deterrence fail.

Components of the U.S. Navy and Marine Corps, as well as elements of the Canadian forces, also participated in the exercise.

His wife, Mary, is the daughter of Ruth Sone of 1672 Woods Road E., Port Orchard, Wash.

Air National Guard Airman 1st Class Marcia L. Domen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Domen of 7995 Marlowe Road, Belleville, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force aircraft ground equipment course at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill.

Graduates of the course learned how to repair generators, gas turbines, and hydraulic pumping equipment, and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Domen will now serve at Selfridge Air National Guard Base, with the 191st Consolidated Aircraft Maintenance Squadron.

Staff Sgt. Rickey C. McIntosh, son of Rosetts and Jesse J. McIntosh of 657 Labo Road, Carleton, also participated in an Air Force Strategic Air Command (SAC) exercise called Global Shield 82.

McIntosh, a fuels technician with the 381st Strategic Missile Wing at McConnell Air Force Base, Kan., joined others from all SAC units in the United States and selected Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard units to take part in command post and field training exercises. Global Shield 82 was the fourth such exercise held by the command in as many years.

Components of the U.S. Navy and Marine Corps, as well as elements of the Canadian forces, also participated in the exercise.

Home on leave in August is Third Class Petty Officer Christopher Parish, son of Mr & Mrs. Willard Parish, of Romulus.

HT3 Parish enlisted into the Navy in 1981 at the Southgate Recruiting Station.

Upon completing his recruit training at Great Lakes, Ill. he received 8 weeks of instructions at the Basic Hull Maintenance Technician School, in Philadelphia, Pa.

In Nov. 1981 upon completing his courses he was assigned to the ship, the U.S.S. Caloosahatchee, Norfolk, Va.

The U.S.S. Caloosahatchee has just completed a five month tour of duty, in the Mediterranean, visiting Spain, Italy, Greece, and Turkey, including U.S. Naval exercises off the coast of Lebanon.

Headstart, Beacon Day programs expand

The Romulus School Board voted to continue the placement of the Headstart Program at Mt. Pleasant School. After heated discussion, School Superintendent William Bedell pointed out that "we have already saved $85,000 by taking out the kindergarten thru six grades."

Since Mt. Pleasant and Beverly School were to be closed at the beginning of this school year, after much discussion and debate among citizens, board members and administrators, there was much controversy concerning the wisdom of this move.

However, both the Headstart and Beacon Day Treatment programs are to be expanded and the administration believes this is a "better way to go", concerning the cost of trying to reopen a building which has been officially closed.

"It is an excellent program and I'm all for Headstart and special programs but I think it should be housed somewhere else," said Joanne Marvicsin, the lone Board member who cast the lone dissenting vote. "This building has been closed."

Ed Wilkerson, newcomer to the Romulus School Board voted to keep the program at Mt. Pleasant "with the understanding from Dr. Bedell that other programs are also going to be housed there within this school year."

"I also feel that Headstart is an excellent program."

Voting 'yes' were also Kenneth Berlinn, Sandra Langley, Mary King and Richard Campbell. Dan Bales, Board president, was excused from the meeting.

Other action taken included accepting recommendations regarding the lunch program: Type A Lunch would be increased by 10 cents, chocolate milk would be offered on a daily basis in the elementary, and the ala carte program will be offered to all students in the junior high, not only Type A Lunch buyers.

New school hours for the 1982-83 school year are 7:45-1:20 High School 8:30-2:05 for Junior high, 8:45-2:20 for students at Haiti and Merriman while those attending Cory, Halecreek, Barth and Wick will be in attendance from 9:30 until 3:05 p.m.

our opinions

Like everything else, don't overdo festivals

Every community owes a debt of gratitude for the charitable works performed by its various service clubs.

Whether it be the Jaycees, Kiwanis, Lions, Moose, Rotary, VFW, Goodfellows or any of a number of organizations, the goal remains the same. Community service.

For the proceeds from those familiar street sales, carnivals, haunted houses and the like eventually return to the community. They take the form of scholarships, donations and purchases for the needy.

However, even the best of intentions sometimes cannot overcome a lack of communication. Such was the case recently in Wayne where three service groups sponsored carnivals within the span of 60 days, creating both a saturated market and attempts by the city administration to limit such activities in the future.

To avoid future conflicts the city council has called for a meeting of representatives from all service clubs to discuss carnival scheduling. Councilman Robert Beeny has proposed the formation of a Council of Service Clubs which would plan and oversee the projects of community-oriented organizations.

We agree with the usefulness of this type of council and encourage other communities to also study its feasibility. With proper representation from all clubs, this kind of body could prevent improper scheduling that can minimize the effectiveness of an individual club's fundraising drive.

A Council of Service Clubs would provide a forum for the exchange of ideas and philosophies as well. Communication on a regular basis can only enhance the reputation of service groups as concerned citizens willing to work together in the name of progress.

Communication can help avoid duplication of efforts. It can lead to jointly sponsored events that increase the effectiveness of their charitable programs.

We would hope that steps will be taken in Wayne and any other community that decides to undertake such a venture to ensure that a Council of Service Clubs does not become a political outfit or one burdened with regulations and red tape. The purpose is to unite, not to confuse or divide.

If approached in a community spirit, this council will produce results. And the community will reap the dividends.

Please don't blame the sheriff's department

A new study of 2,542 county facilities contains a shocking indictment — and possible solutions — for the nation's jails.

Under a grant from the U.S. Department of Justice, the National Sheriffs' Association (NSA) surveyed 89 percent of these overcrowded, understaffed or outmoded cell blocks. They found an average 61.1 percent of the prisoners are detained before sentencing.

• Mobile County, Alabama's jail, for example, has capacity for 175 people. Last month it housed 211. One hundred and sixty were unsentenced.

• Polk County (Des Moines), Iowa, and Tulsa County, Okla., jail officials estimate 80 percent are pretrial prisoners. In Cuyahoga County (Cleveland), Ohio, the exact figure is 77 percent.

• Onondaga County Jail in Syracuse, N.Y., averages 184 inmates daily. About 170 are unsentenced.

• Fayette County (Lexington), Ky., Metro Detention Center holds an average of 400 prisoners, 303 unsentenced.

• In Santa Barbara County, Calif., an honor farm and work furlough program relieves jail congestion.

tion. Nevertheless, of 527 inmates, 240 have not been tried.

Every year 6.2 million enter the criminal justice system through county jails, 17 times the number sentenced to state or federal prison. Most will never be found guilty, many could be released safely through effective pre-trial programs. Francis R. Ford of the sheriffs' association suspects 80 percent remain in jail simply because they can't raise bail.

Such statistics raise fundamental questions for a nation whose constitution presumes a person innocent until proven guilty.

Constitutional matters aside, counties can't afford to let people languish in jail. The NSA says it cost $20.69 a day each!

Pretrial detention is not a sheriff's only problem: In five years, 37 states passed mandatory sentencing laws, even though studies in Massachusetts, Michigan and New York conclude they have little effect on crime. In 20 states, the laws have filled every lock-up cot, bunk, trailer and tent on state penitentiary grounds, spilling 8,576 prisoners into county jails.

The voters, meanwhile, continue to resist approval of jail construction bonds. "People are having trouble housing themselves," explained Ford. "Much less providing housing to those who live outside the law."

"Taxpayers want society to get tough on criminals, but they don't want to pay for it," says Allen Breed, director of the justice department's National Institute of Corrections. "People arrive in jail because of the decisions of voters, commissioners, police and judges. The problem only gets laid on sheriffs because they run the jails."

The nation's sheriffs are tired of being blamed for overcrowding. With new constructions costing $50,000 a cell, Breed notes, "Jail is the most costly sanction we have, the most expensive form of social control. If you cut your finger, you don't have the bandage put on at the hospital, do you?"

"We have to lock up the hard-core offenders and find creative sentencing options for minor offenders," Breed insists. He called for expansion of work release programs, halfway houses and detoxification centers.

Writer is outraged by biased PLO editorial

In response to your editorial of August 11-12, 1982, "Beirut - it concerns each and everyone of us", I would like to commend your editorial staff for the headline which accurately depicts the American involvement in the Beirut crisis.

However, most of the editorial is inaccurate, to say the least.

As Americans of Palestinian decent, an organization of over 2,000 members, we are outraged at such a biased editorial.

The Palestinian Liberation Organization (PLO), is the legitimate representative of the Palestinians. A fact recognized by more than 120 nations in the world. The PLO's sole purpose is to return to their homeland now occupied by the Jewish state of Israel.

This does not entail the expulsion of the Jews from Israel, but rather, calls for the creation of a Democratic State where Jews, Moslems and Christians can live with equal right and dignity in Palestine.

Israel, which expelled Palestinians in 1948 and 1967, refused to allow the Palestinian refugees of these wars any of their legitimate rights recognized by numerous United Nations Resolutions, such as their right to return to their homes.

Over four Million Palestinians are without a homeland due to the expansionists theocratic state of Israel.

Now, Israel, which can no longer justify in world opinion its occupation of Palestine, has waged a war of genocide against the Palestinians and Lebanon.

Over 15,000 innocent women, children and men have been murdered and over double that amount wounded by Israel.

Israel's barbaric actions have, unlike you've stated, been the cause of the devastation of Lebanon.

How can anyone justify this holocaust?

If your editorial seeks to do so, then you suffer from the same lack of logic as do the Israelis: One dead Jew equals a thousand dead Palestinians.

Beirut concerns each and everyone of us because we, as Americans, supply Israel with the weaponry used to murder innocent women, children and men.

We, as Americans in the middle of an economic recession, are giving aid to Israel in excess of $3 billion dollars a year of our tax dollars. In a time of austerity, where President Reagan is requesting cuts in our social programs, Israel and Begin have the audacity to demand more aid for the next fiscal year, to facilitate the murder of more human beings in the name of "security".

Yes, yes Beirut concerns each one of us because our hands have become stained with blood of the 15,000 innocent children, women and men in Lebanon and only we can stop the continuing murder of innocent lives.

Tourism watchers across the state predict that the upcoming 78-hour Labor Day weekend activity should follow the summer-long trend and equal the 1981 level, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Mileage projections, campground reservations and other barometers show a strong Labor Day building for tourism operators, despite the economy, according to Auto Club's Travel Operations Manager James Drury.

"There even are some predictions of holiday travel possibly exceeding last year's pace," Drury said.

If the weather is warm and sunny, the Michigan Department of Transportation said motorists could travel a record 715 million miles during the holiday, which runs from 6 p.m. Friday (Sept. 3) to midnight Monday (Sept. 6).

Last year the department predicted a 700-million-mile holiday, but bad weather put the actual figure at 600 million miles traveled.

There should be a law

Tom Mooradian
Managing Editor

With all the laws on the books today, one would think that we wouldn't need to add to the confusion.

However, the recall in Van Buren of five trustees points to the glaring fact that if you don't belong to a major political party your chances to be elected to the office vacated would be impossible.

Moot is the procedure to select candidates for filling the vacancies, according to those who have researched the problem. And, one person who knows that the problem is not only academic but may be unconstitutional is attorney Richard James, whose services the township has used over the years.

Although deputies may step up and temporarily serve as the boss in the office from which a trustee or elected official is ousted by the voters, it really isn't clear how an independent candidate can get on the ballot if he or she covets the recalled official's title.

For example, Van Buren is housed in the 15th Congressional District. It will be up to that congressional district's republicans and democrats to choose a slate of officers to run in the November 2 General Election.

"It is not really clear, but the way I understand the procedure, as well as the law, is that in a recall situation an entity called the township committee which is actually, I suppose, a sub-committee in this case of the 15th Congressional Republican and Democratic Party Districts committees, make the nomination as to who is going to be their party's candidate to fill the recalled position," said James.

But what if you don't belong to either the Democratic or the Republican parties?

It appears you're out of luck. Here's what James has to say in this unique case: "There is no provision for a primary. The committees themselves, as I read the statutes, have the authority to select nominees on behalf of the party. Those nominees are the candidates who will be placed on the ballot. Any other is excluded, at least from running on a party slate."

This sort of leaves everyone who isn't or doesn't want to be associated with the two major parties looking in from the outside.

James and his colleagues in Lansing admit that they don't know what would occur if a candidate decided he or she wanted to run as an independent because there is no provision on the law books for that kind of situation.

Do you file nominating petitions? If so, what is the percentage of signatures one would require? And, since there is no primary, and if two people filed nominating petitions as independents, would they be eliminated or disenfranchised because they are independents and don't want the major party tag?

One of the reasons for the confusion and the lack of legal direction is that "clearing house completely", recalling a majority of elected officials at one time has been a rare occurrence in our history.

"No one seems to know what would happen if an independent suddenly wanted to become supervisor or clerk or treasurer of Van Buren Township," James said.

There should be a law about that.

Writer offers her opinions on W-W recall

EDITOR — This letter is in response to Darlene A. McLaughlin's question: "Why are the Wayne-Westland School Board members targets of recall?"

The purpose of this recall is stated very clearly on the petitions we filed. It is very specific. The people who signed them do not feel these four board members acted in the best interest of this community when they voted to extend the teachers contract for two years, with a 7-9 percent raise each year.

Why is this so hard to understand? Why do the board members find it so hard to respond to the charges? Instead, they hide behind Dr. Timothy Dyer, the community college, property values and innocent children.

Mrs. McLaughlin, you stated the teachers have accepted a "wage freeze". Where did you get your information? As the wife of a teacher, you are extremely uninformed. Perhaps you have been listening to the wrong sources, or attending the wrong kind of meetings. The teachers have agreed to wait until October, instead of September, for two per cent of their pay increase. If you think that is a "wage freeze", you need to talk to some auto workers.

You say you don't want new board members getting their experience on the job? Where do you think these present people got their experience? Most of them had none, until Dr. Dyer appointed them.

You talk about decreasing property values. June of last year my house was appraised at $40,000 - $42,000. This year it is appraised at $34,000 - $37,000, (and there has been no recall.) There has however, been a $49 a month increase in my property taxes. Would you buy a home without studying the tax history?

You mention the cost of a recall election. Again, where did you get your information? If the amount you suggest ($30,000), is correct, let's do some comparing.

These board members approved an increase in the benefits for the teachers, at the same time they did the raises. The extra cost of the vision benefits, alone, will be $104,000 each year. This is in addition to the 2-3 million dollars the raise will cost, each year! I was wrong, there is no comparison.

These "four good public servants" have, by their irresponsible behavior, put this district on a collision course. The administration has already begun layoffs and program cuts. They tell us that unless the board increases our taxes equal to 2 mills, there will be even deeper cuts. Why did these people approve a contract that our district can not afford to cover?!

You call this acting in good faith! I realize this contract extension will mean over $4,000 to your family. But, look what it is costing your friends and neighbors.

Mary Arbour admits we all make mistakes, and says the pro-recall people are "nit picking." I don't think "nit picking" begins to describe a "mistake" that is costing the taxpayers millions of dollars, teachers their jobs, and children a quality education.

We need four new board members. People who are not afraid to stand up to administration. People who will try to understand what they are voting on, before they vote - not after. (These same four members approved Dr. Dyer's latest contract, but - not one of them knows how much he earns, or what his benefits are.)

People who are informed, concerned and caring will go to the polls September 14 and vote. September 15, there will be four vacant seats on the school board.

Candidate thanks supporters

EDITOR — I would like to express my heartfelt "Thanks" to the voters in Westland who made me their choice for State Representative of the newly created 38th District.

In the months ahead, as the Democratic nominee for this important position, I will do everything humanly possible to keep the faith and trust the voters of this community have shown in me in the past 16 years.

Special thanks should go to those individuals who donated many long, hard hours to assist me in my campaign. To those persons I would like to say that my win was THEIR win!

Once again, thanks to the many, many persons who supported my candidacy. With the same type of hard work and support we can win in November.

PLO editorial draw criticism

EDITOR — While the description of the Palestine Liberation Organization's brutality in your Aug. 12 editorial on Beirut is completely accurate, I must take issue with your conclusions and your omission of some key facts.

As a long-time supporter and admirer of Israel, it was with sadness and some confusion that I finally turned against Israeli policies. Notice I said policies.

I still wholeheartedly support Israeli survival and security. But one can do that without blindly supporting every Israeli policy — or kowtowing to Menachem Begin (whose own terrorist activities as head of the Irgun in the 1940's almost make Yassir Arafat look like Mother Theresa: Irgun specialized in kidnapping and hanging innocent British soldiers and massacring entire Arab villages; and once Begin's troops actually fought a pitched battle against the Israeli national army in 1948, while Arab armies were invading Israel!).

The reason for my changed position is that there has been a vast and crucial shift in the underlying Middle East situation in recent years — one most commentators fail to note. Namely, there is no longer any threat to Israel's national survival, although Israel continues to follow preemptive military policies based on the pretense that there is.

The reason there is no threat to Israeli survival (despite the danger to individuals posed by terrorism) is the peace treaty with Egypt. The reason Israel pretends it is still in mortal danger is, apparently, just to give itself an excuse to cling to Arab lands.

As wrong as the PLO is, the Israelis are wrong, too. They are wrong because the whole conflict is completely unnecessary. Israel could have had a real and lasting Middle East peace several years ago, if only she had been willing to compromise on the Palestinian homeland issue. (The claim that such a state would jeopardize Israeli security is totally false, as anyone with any grasp of international relations can instantly see.)

A Palestinian state is the best possible guarantee of Israeli safety, since it would give Israel something to attack and the Palestinians something to lose in case of trouble. Set up a Palestinian state and, I guarantee you, Yassir Arafat himself will hunt down and kill any remaining Arab terrorists to avoid Israeli retaliation against the Palestinian state.)

The reason this concerns us is that Israeli stubbornness damages U.S. interests. We need the Arabs more than we need Israel, not just for their oil but for their support against the Soviets in the Persian Gulf area. Risking Arab anger was justified when Israel's survival was at stake. But today we no longer have that reason, and we should not provoke the Arabs just to coddle what has become a bad case of Israeli imperialism.

It is unfortunate that you have chosen this delicate issue as the excuse for an excessive attack on President Reagan. Certainly to accuse him of an "affinity" for terrorists, Latin American dictators and Polish Communists is — to put it as gently as one can — a trifle extreme.

Trying to stop an aggressive war by Israel (involving U.S. arms, at that) is not the same as supporting terrorists. Trying to manage the extremely difficult and sensitive situation in El Salvador is not the same as supporting dictators. Remember, El Salvador's leaders were chosen in a free and reasonably honest election. I'm not happy with their slowdown on land reform, either, but they were the people's choice. Aside from continuing to pressure them to follow progressive policies, what are our options? Surely you don't advocate turning countries over to the Communists anytime the people elect leaders we don't like? That's hardly an attractive alternative to Reagan's policy.

It behooves us to recognize that such situations are inherently tricky. We may disagree with Reagan's policy, but the right course of action certainly is not obvious enough to justify the kind of harsh criticism you aimed at him.

Lastly, Reagan has done about all he can to the Polish leaders without hurting the Polish people. What do you want him to do? Go on the radio and call for a Polish popular uprising that we would be helpless to support?

There are certainly flaws in his foreign policy. I also question his handling of the European pipeline. But let's not criticize him too harshly for failing to solve the insoluble overnight, or for his cautious attempts to adjust old, ingrained, politically explosive U.S. policies to the new realities of the Middle East.

Norwayne project is successful

EDITOR — The dance sponsored by the Norwayne Task Force was a success with 148 youth and twenty-one adults present. The Task Force would like to thank the following people who contributed to making it successful: Bob Timmons and his band, Outer Drive, donated their musical talents; Gene Hudson for the use of the Dorsey Center; Westland Police Department for their cooperation, especially Officer Craig Bowlby, for his help in getting the 1800 fliers printed up for distribution; and the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company, Venoy-Palmer Market and T & C Distributors for their cooperation in providing refreshments for sale by the Task Force. Because of the interest shown in this event, the Task Force is planning on holding a second dance.

Novi 'center' prompts questions

EDITOR — The Detroit News, on August 15, 1982, carried a story on the actions of the Novi city council using its powers to raise the taxes on land that they have designated as a "regional center".

I was wondering where the city was going to get the money to pay for all the nice new buildings they have added during the worst economic climate Michigan has had in decades. However I feel that it's unfair to charge people for something they have not delivered.

I am suprised that the city could spend $350,000 on pre-construction costs. How could a citizen have the "special knowledge" needed to stay out of the way of a "regional center"?

To confiscate this property is unthinkable. To have a body of government change the rules after the fact, is wrong!

If the assessed property is indeed assessed correctly, let the State buy it, at its assessed value! After all, if the land is truly valuable, they will be able to exist long enough to reap the benefit of being a property owner, in Novi.

I think we need to know a lot more about Novi, and how they arrive at "needed and desirable" conclusions.

Grandmother's wisdom

There is one thing about being knee-deep in grandchildren and that is that it brings back memories. Sometimes it's memories that are best forgotten, but after my recent experience with little ones, I have decided what parents need now, now that I am a grandparent, is some earth-shattering wisdom.

These are the things I learned on the way to becoming a grandmother.

The first thing that one must remember upon reaching parenthood is never say no, unless you are prepared to back it up... like having at hand a beaten-up broom-stick, a ball bat, or even an old 2 x 4, because ever since Adam told Cain he couldn't go out and play without taking little brother, kids have been defying their parents; and there's no reason to think they are changing.

The second thing to remember is never say no unless it is absolutely necessary, because if it isn't absolutely necessary, you are going to get all worn out trying to show who's boss at your house.

And, after it's all over, the kid isn't going to believe you, anyway.

Sometimes, it is rather hard to decide what is absolutely necessary, and worth the supreme effort it will take to enforce the word. But I found that there is hardly ever an occasion important enough to expend all the energy necessary to make a no stick.

Of course, if the kid is insisting on putting his hand down the garbage disposal while it is turned on, it might be wise to say no. Less expensive, too.

I found a lot of ways of getting around a kid without actually coming right out and using that lethal word that turns them off. I found that if one can make another mother the ogre it helps one's own psyche immensely.

As an example I will tell you about the time when I was editor of a newspaper. One day when my mind was full of deadlines and headlines my littlest girl called and wanted to know if she could take a bath with her boyfriend.

Well, now, everyone knows that little girls shouldn't take baths with little boys, although, for the life of me, I don't know why, especially when they are only about knee high, but I had a feeling the little boy's mother might not want her kid to take a bath on a windy day.

There I was, a couple of miles away from the crisis, knowing that if I said no, those kids would be in the bathtub before I could ever make it home.

And then a brilliant idea struck!

mona grigg

Every kid should know a barn

I couldn't even tell you why, but I have a real thing for barns. Barns (working barns, that is) are usually smelly and dark and have furry little things skittering all over the place.

The Birds have a habit of building their nests in the upper reaches of barns and refuse to learn even the rudiments of manners and the uses of outhouses. They seem to get pleasure out of "dropping" on you when you least expect it.

And yet, even with that, there is something romantic about barns. Sometimes the smell of new-mown hay overrides the other smells. Barns are special then.

Sometimes calves and foals are born in barns. Barns are special then.

And sometimes kids use them as oversize playhouses, as forts, as ships, and as assorted other adventure and hiding places. Barns are really special then.

Every kid should have access to a barn during his or her lifetime. A kid in a barn would never leave it at five o'clock to watch "The Brady Bunch". That just shows you how important a barn can be.

When I was a kid (here I go again), my grandmother had a wood shed and a root cellar and an outhouse. She baked the most glorious breads in a wood stove with no temperature control save the studied use of softwood and hardwoods. She had a hand pump at the kitchen sink and milk came delivered in shiny galvanized milk cans — but she didn't have a barn.

Not having a barn might have been unforgivable — except that she had had the good sense to live next to the Piirala's, who did.

Old man Piirala was a crusty, grumpy sort — except when it came to kids and cats. Kids and cats could get away with anything. I could understand about kids, being one myself, but I could never figure his affinity for cats. I never liked cats much.

It wasn't until much later that I learned about working cats. Now they're known as "mousers", but then I think they were still "cats". But their purpose was the same: They lived in the barns and took care of all the little furry things skittering all over the place.

The only time I ever saw Old Man Piirala smile was when he sat on his three-legged milk stool and squirted cow's milk at the cat. He laughed out loud when it missed the cat's mouth and got him in the eye, instead.

Once he even let me sit at the stool and try to milk the cow. He was patient enough, but the cow wasn't. She wanted no part of a greenhorn city kid and kicked me away, stool and all. It was Okay — I didn't like her much, either. Cows had a way of staring without ever blinking. I wasn't much for things staring. It was what I had against cats, too.

But calves were another matter. I adored the calves. I wished, every year, that they didn't have to grow up to be cows. But by the next summer cows they were — with new calves to take their places. The thing about the calves was that they nuzzled you and followed you and had a way of making you feel pretty special. That was important to a kid — especially a city kid. There was nobody dumber in the world

JOYCE HAGELTHORN

"I'll tell you what, honey," I said, "You run down and ask Johnny's mama if he can take a bath with you and if she says yes, I don't care."

Guess who was the mean old mother?

The third thing to remember is never say no. Indoctinate your kids right from the beginning that when you say maybe it means probably not, and when you say probably not, it means I doubt it, and when you say I doubt it, they aren't going to do it. But never, ever say no, unless you want to fight it out.

And I have never known a parent yet, who has won that fight than a city kid in the country. The kid didn't know anything.

I think, now, that Old Man Piirala liked kids because they were a source of amusement to him — and maybe something more. They (we) were so funny and wide-eyed about everything he took as commonplace. They made him "see" things again. Things that maybe he had forgotten were so fascinating, having become so "daily."

I can only guess about Old Man Piirala's feeling for kids, being at the other end, now, myself. When we introduce a kid to things old hat to us, the old fascination — the "newness" — comes back and it becomes a totally new experience again.

That's why it's a shame about barns. About how they just seem to disappear, one by one, while "The Brady Bunch" goes on and on... and on.

Northwoods Pasties

Meat-filled pies are featured in two sizes

As the sign on the front window says, "Pasties — one makes a meal."

Norma Jackson, owner of Northwoods Pasties at 1179 Henry Ruff in Inkster (between Michigan Ave. and Cherry Hill), has been providing such meals at the same site for nine years.

"I started out as a part-time worker and ended up owning the business," laughed Jackson, pulling a tray of eight hot pasties from the oven. "Everything is baked fresh here everyday."

Specialty of the house is the "Northwoods," a seven-ounce pasty filled with beef, potatoes and carrots and seasoned with onions for $1.20. For the big appetite, the Paul Bunyan pasty features 10 to 12 ounces of ingredients for $1.70.

"Northwoods" also come with rutabaga ($1.25), green pepper (1.25) and parmesan cheese ($1.30). Free gravy is provided as a Monday and Wednesday special.

The carryout restaurant also features a dozen pasties, ranging in price from $11 for the Northwoods pasty to $15 for the Paul Bunyan variety.

"It takes about 45 minutes to heat these up in the oven," the owner explained, "or just over four minutes in a microwave. They've already been baked."

In addition to the meat-filled pasties, this small neighborhood eatery offers a submarine sandwich, featuring three kinds of meat, two kinds of cheeses, lettuce, tomato, onion, pickles and a special Italian spicy sauce on an eight-inch bun

($1.50). A stacked ham and cheese sandwich sells for $1.80.

Other items featured on the menu include pizza slices, pizza rolls, cole slaw, gravy and homemade brownies (30 cents). Milk, coffee and a variety of juices also are available.

Northwoods Pasties remains open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays and from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Saturdays. The business is closed Sundays.

Jackson, who will celebrate her fifth anniversary as owner in December, is assisted in the operations by daughters Debbie, Cindy and Sandy as well as their husbands.

Cash, Lewis Concert set

Johnny Cash and Jerry Lee Lewis will headline a day-long Jamboree in the Park on September 4 at Van Buren Park, located off the I-94 Service Drive between Belleville and Rawsonville Roads.

The park will open at 10 a.m. with the music starting at noon — Cash and Lewis are expected to perform in the early evening hours, according to promoter Ed Morelli.

In addition to these two recording giants, other performers will include June Carter Cash, Paul Webb and Young Country, Wally Jackson and Sundown, A.C. and Kentucky Fox, Bob Sanderson and Gold Country, Free and Easy, Sky Alexander and OK Corral and Backwoods Band.

Tickets, priced at $10.50 in advance and $12.50 at the gate, are available at CTC outlets and at RPM Records, PDQ Printing and the Tin Lizzie Restaurant in Belleville. Children under 10 are admitted free.

Spectators are invited to bring their own food while beverages, including beer and wine, will be available at the park.

The Jamboree is produced by Golden Spur Productions, a new concert promotion company based in Belleville.

A new LP slated for the Boss

Bruce Springsteen surprised everyone, including his record label, when he brought in tapes for a new LP tentatively scheduled to be issued in September.

No, it's not the new album with the E Street Band that he's been mixing, but rather a solo acoustic effort with just the Boss, his guitar and his harmonica.

Dubbed "Nebraska," the record is a throwback for Bruce to his folk origins. I'll bet no one calls him "The new Dylan this time around."

Chrissie Hynde and the Pretenders have decided to carry on despite the recent death of guitarist James Honeyman-Scott. No word yet on the replacement (s).

Billy Joel's next album, called "The Nylon Curtain," should be out by the first of the month. It's reportedly a lush richly textured record, which means, of course, that orchestration abounds on it. Personal comment! Zzzzzzzzz...

Carl Wilson, who left the Beach Boys about a year ago, has rejoined that institution once (See MUSIC — Page C-2)

Niekamp performs for jazz ensemble

David Niekamp of Westland is one of 15 outstanding music students to earn a place on Henry Ford Community College's Summer Jazz Ensemble, which will perform two free concerts at the Montreux-Detroit Jazz Festival in September.

Niekamp plays the baritone saxophone and is attending the four-week Jazz Studies Program at Henry Ford this summer on a full tuition scholarship.

According to Jack Pierson, director of the jazz program, the participants are selected on the basis of musical ability and academic excellence.

The ensemble's concerts are scheduled at 11:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. September 5 at the Show Wagon in Hart Plaza.

To be featured are such compositions as

"Steppin' Out," "Come Rain or Come Shine," and "Chiapas."

A look at the music world

again. Good news for Beach Boys fans, though a failed solo career often brings ex-members knocking on the door again.

The Human League, who's huge hit "Don't You Want Me Baby" pushed them to the top of the charts, have a new LP out... sort of. Titled "The League Unlimited Orchestra". The record is actually an instrumental version of the "Dare" LP. Differ-rent to say the least.

Yoko Ono is in the studio recording a new album... Boomtown Rats vocalist Bob Geldof stars in Pink Floyd's new movie, "The Wall"... when will Bob Seger's new LP finally be released? Does anyone care?... Paul McCartney is tentatively set to tour the U.S. this fall, including a stop in Detroit, but nothing is being confirmed yet.

About our grads

Degrees conferred, honors given on Michigan and Ohio campuses

Albion College recently named 344 students to its Dean's List for the spring semester. Among that number was sophomore Jill D. Mlsna, the daughter of Mrs. Mary S. Mlsna of 16200 Haggerty Rd., Belleville.

Students must maintain at least a 3.5 grade point average (based on a 4.0 system) to earn a spot on the prestigious roster.

Albion, founded in 1835 and located in the south central Michigan town of the same name, is a privately supported co-educational liberal arts college related to the United Methodist Church. Its more than 1,900 students come from 32 states and 16 foreign countries.

Refreshing fruit coolers

Melon Refresher

1 scoop Country Time lemonade flavor drink mix
1/2 cup water
1 cup crushed ice
2 cups cantaloupe chunks

Combine all ingredients in blender container. Blend until smooth. Serve over additional ice, if desired. Makes about 3 cups or 3 servings, 1 cup each, or 6 servings, 1/2 cup each.

Mock Plum Wine

2 scoops Country Time lemonade flavor drink mix
2 cups sliced peeled ripe plums
1-1/2 cups ice-cold water
Ice cubes or crushed ice
1-1/2 cups ginger ale, chilled

Combine drink mix, plums and water in blender container. Cover; blend for 20 seconds. Pour over ice cubes in glass pitcher. Just before serving, stir in ginger ale. Make 5 cups or 6 servings.

Somewhere in the space between summer and fall is a moment to reflect on the signs of the season. Day camp ends and school is beginning. Chrysanthemums bloom, and apples are soon to follow. Suntans fade, and shorts and swim suits give way to jeans and jackets. Evenings grow shorter, while calendars fill to capacity. And change, excitement and anticipation are in the air. The time is ripe to pause for a cool drink, think back on summer, and plan for the autumn to come.

The beverage to choose combines early fall's fresh plums with summer's lemonade flavor drink mix. It's whipped in the blender and served on ice, with ginger ale. Mock Plum Wine is non-alcoholic, so the whole family can enjoy this refreshing pick-me-up.

Pick purple or yellow plums — whichever are available in your market; use lemonade or pink lemonade flavor drink — whichever you have on the shelf. Mock Plum Wine is light, zippy and not-too-sweet. Make it part of the break that you need between daily activities, and take time to enjoy one of the season's special pleasures.

Please note

New items intended for the Suburban Living section should be sent directly to Lee Smith, Suburban Living Editor, Box 278, Belleville, 48111. Deadline is 2 p.m. Thursdays for the following week's publication.

potpourri

By Lee Smith
Suburban Living Editor

We had the pleasure of being part of a full-house last week as "Oklahoma!" — the last of three musicals — continued its 9-day run at the Croswell Opera House in Adrian.

Having opted for the Croswell's summer series, we were surprised to read in the program of the first production, "Kismet", that Keith Drayton and his wife, Joanne, were slated to play the leads, Curly and Laurie, in the final presentation.

It was a whole new ballgame for us since Keith'd been BEHIND the scenes — directing, producing, running down properties (even a survey with a fringe on top) — when Belleville High School took on the challenge of its very first musical some dozen years back.

A good many of us had kids who went through the yips of auditioning, the relief of being chosen and the alternate joy-agony of endless rehearsals when the show got underway. And for this family, there was many an evening rife with irritation as "Aunt Eller's" dad sat waiting for her outside that auditorium long after rehearsals were slated to end.

That's why (when we went backstage to say hello and offer congratulations to the star) the comment, "There're a couple familiar faces," rang true to BG. "He probably remembers me for reaming him out that one time too many he kept all us parents waiting."

But — getting back to the show itself. Despite the fact I'd sat through all four nights when it "played" BHS and had heard my own trio warble the entire score for weeks on end, I was smitten anew by the magic of Rogers and Hammerstein and felt goose bumps running rampant as the maestro lifted his baton and the overture began.

The summer stock rendition was excellent and complete with full orchestra; marvelous singers who could project; smart, realistic sets and props and colorful costumes. The latter probably posed no problem whatsoever, what with today's craze for western garb; boots for the large cast having been quite a problem those 12 years ago.

But, delightful as it was, there will never but never be anything like the show those high schoolers surprised their community with in those early 70's. Rank amateurs (most of the "stars" never having appeared on stage en masse, let alone solo) with a chorus composed of literal "greenhorns" as far as dance choreography was concerned, those kids gave their all in a production that resulted in encore after encore and standing ovations every night.

It brings to mind "our" Aunt Eller's statement, "It's going to be a super show. Mom — really professional, you're going to be surprised." Little did I know how true her prediction would be and that I'd end up suffering a near case of lockjaw — from smiling. It was and still is one of the physically movingest shows with some of the best music and lyrics ever! Who wouldn't recognize 95 percent of the numbers?

And to prove a point in favor of its endless popularity, "Oklahoma!" broke all attendance records in the history of the Croswell. Oh what a beautiful play!

HELLO, VIRGO!

In the realm of the zodiac, Leo gave way to Virgo last Sunday — to people who are better organized than the IRS, who tend toward the traditional rather than modern in decor, have a liking for hanging plants, trees, fresh flowers, and care so much about their health that they often end up with a case of colitis from worrying.

The Virgo's nerves are his/her nemesis and they exercise their power on the digestive system, making them prone to ailments of the stomach, intestines and bowels (indigestion, ulcers and spastic colons are common.)

In their minds, marriage is a symbol of the emotional security they seek and they look forward to emotional and intellectual rapport as well as calm and order.

They are both cautious and conservative with money and are not likely to have many credit cards. Because they are record keepers to end all record keepers, they seldom get stranded by a lack of cash flow. When there's an excess of cash, they are more likely to sink it into a wise investment than to squander it on a custom-built swimming pool. Wealth, however, is not their foremost desire in life; security is!

And some of the famous folks who fall into the above niches include a twosome who became household words due to television — Valerie (Rhoda) Harper and Cindy (the Shirley half of Laverne and you-know-who) Williams. They share Aug. 22 as their natal date and chalked up their 42nd and 35th respective birthdays last Sunday.

The following day Pittsburgh-born hoofer, Gene Kelly, danced his way to 70 while Bing's little brother, Bob, turned 69 and Vera Miles, 52.

Born five years apart, former television host Dennis James and Gary Moore's old side-kick, Durward Kirby, were 65 and 70 Aug. 24.

Today is ice cream and cake day for a whole slew of Hollywood personalities. Sean Connery, who was born 52 years ago in Edinburgh, Scotland, heads the list which includes the rage of the bobby soxers in the 40's, Van Johnson, at 66; Mel Ferrer and Don DeFore, both at 65; and Ruby Keeler, 72. Conductor Leonard Bernstein also claims the date and is 64 today.

Toni Tennille will be serenading her husband, Daryl Dragon, on his 40th birthday Friday while Butte, Montana folks might be sending greetings to a native daughter, Martha Raye, on her 66th year. In the meantime Tuesday Weld will be the proverbial "39." Our 36th president, Lyndon Baines Johnson, would've been 74.

Former co-stars in may a 40's movie, Donald O'Connor and Peggy Ryan, have a mutual birthday Aug. 28. Born a year apart they'll be 57 and 58, respectively. The Beverly Hillbillies' "Miss Jane", Nancy Kulp, will head for 61 and actor Ben Gazzara will reach 52, all on the same date.

BETCHA DIDN'T KNOW

- Americans spend some $100 billion a year on shoes.
- Abalone steak, the popular seafood dish found along the Pacific Coast and in Japan, comes from the muscular foot of the snail.
- The average American household does six loads of wash a week. (Wow, does that mean if you do twice as much, you're ABOVE average?)

THE BOTTOM LINE: The easiest thing to decide is what you'd do if you were in someone else's shoes.

BPW meets in Ontario for potluck

The Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW) continues to be active during the summer months as well as the usual club season. The August meeting was a potluck luncheon at the summer home of Past-president Georgia Badgett in Wheatley, Ont. Located on the edge of Lake Erie, the cottage affords swimming, boating and fishing and is an ideal spot for a hot summer day. In addition to the Belleville members, five guests from the Dearborn BPW Club shared in the gathering. The business session centered on the program for the 1982-83 club year. Emphasis will be on state and national legislation which affects working women. Members were also cautioned about voting in November and advised to take time to learn how politicians stand on upcoming legislation and to know their past voting record concerning working women's issues. The finance committee is at work seeking ways to raise funds to support the club's two scholarships.

One is presented to a Belleville High School senior girl and the other to a mature woman who has need to re-enter the working force. In the past three years, the BPW has sponsored a Belleville High School junior girl and paid costs for her to attend Girls State in Mt. Pleasant, a program designed by the American Legion Auxiliary to give young women of Michigan a week of experience in the importance of self-government as operated in the state. Oct. 25 has been designated as the day for the Belleville Community Blood Bank, an annual function sponsored by the club for over 25 years. The Humanitarian Project will again center on the needy at holiday time and services to guests or residents at local nursing homes. Any working woman interested in becoming affiliated with this active club may call 697-0115 for further information.

World champs

Wayne Ford Civic League manager Jerry Pitcher presents the National Amateur Baseball Federation's coveted first place trophy to Alberta Thomas, president of WFCL after the local ball club captured the World Series in competition held in Plymouth. The series, hosted jointly by the NABF and Little Caesar's, brought together teams from Westland, Canton, Bayside, New York, Baltimore, Maryland, Louisville, Kentucky and Meadowdale, Ohio. Pitcher, who has managed teams for 14 years, called winning the world crown "the greatest thrill of my coaching career."

Fiesta Lanes picks up 'C' playoff title

Fiesta Lanes came-from-behind and rattled Westworld 12-11 to capture the 1982 Westland Class C men's softball playoff championship last week.

Westworld staked losing pitcher Ed Krukikowski to three runs in the first inning, but the champs rallied for four runs in their second, added two more in the third, then iced it with three-run sprees in both the fourth and fifth frames.

Tagged for 23 hits, Krukikowski gave up three safeties apiece to Gary Miller, Mike McManamon, Keith Tittensor and Rich Sharp. All had two runs batted in.

In the meantime, Kevin Thweatt, Jim Souillere and John Timczak each connected for over-the-fence homers off of winner McManamon who served up 10 hits in the victory. Thweatt wound up with three RBIs and also had two singles.

Westworld qualified to meet Fiesta in the finals thanks to a 13-8 victory over Hunter/Wayne. Ed Crechilo, the winning pitcher, helped his cause with four hits, including a double and two runs batted in. Jim Souillere homered and singled and Jim Harrison chipped in with two runs for the winners.

Losing pitcher Dave Gillies gave up 16 hits. Hunter/Wayne received some outstanding efforts from Rick Knurek who collected three hits, including a double. Terry O'Neill singled and doubled while Ken Liedel and Chuck Norwood each checked in with a pair of hits.

Westwood had earlier shut out Hunter/Wayne Party Store 5-0 on Crechilo's five-hit pitching performance. Dave Gagne laced three hits, and Greg Lenhoff connected for a triple and a single, while Jim Souillers bagged a pair of singles.

Fiesta erupted for seven runs in the top of the fifth and ended Bonnie Baker's season 11-6. The losers amassed a 3-0 first inning lead and had led 5-4 after four innings, but couldn't silence Fiesta's bats in that decisive fifth inning.

Gary Shrum had a triple and single and also drove in two runs for the winners. Rich Sharp latched on to three hits and Miller checked in with two singles for the winners. McManamon served up 11 hits, two each to losing pitcher Don Yanik and Doug Walters.

In the only other playoff game, Hunter-Wayne humbled Bonnie Baker 15-3 as O'Neill and Chuck Grigg blasted over-the-fence roundtrippers. Liedel had a single, double, and triple and Chuck Norwood bagged a pair of singles and a triple.

Gary Lubinski put one over-the-fence for the losers while Pat Ritter and Marty Krygier accounted for three and two hits, respectively.

Westland's Thomas captures Anderson Memorial crown

It was an "all-area" championship as unbeaten Joe Thomas of Westland riddled Belleville's Captain Nemos 13-4 to capture the sixth annual Leonard J. Anderson Invitational Softball Tournament last week.

With 16 teams, including a California-based ball club, competing for the championship, Joe Thomas swept all five of its tournament games to claim the 1982 title.

Thomas's reliable hurler Dave

Wyrobkiewicz, who was picked for the tournament's All-Star team, gave up two runs in the early goings of the championship bout, then settled down and scattered nine hits to chalk up the decisive victory.

Dave Moore paced Nemos' assault with a pair of hits — a single and double. He also had two RBIs.

However, the champs leaped on loser Willie Boone for five runs in the fourth inning and after that it was only a matter of time. The Westland-based team erupted for two more runs in the sixth and stashed it away with a six-run surge in the seventh.

Boone was tagged for a couple of two-baggers and a pair of runs batted in by Bob Fields. He also gave up two singles to Mark Morgan and three hits apiece to Jim Hubbs and Wyroabkiewicz.

The All-Star line-up featured Joe Thomas' catcher Bob Pickney, second baseman Bob Fields and outfielder Tom Guilfoyle. Others named to the star-studded team are first baseman Pat Brown (New World), third baseman Norm Beasley (Jake's Lounge), shortstop Dave Ochdinicky (New World) and Dave Moore (Captain Nemos) and Bob Johnson (Captun Nemos) as outfielders. Bob Killenbeck of Pittman's was named as the All-Stars' Designated Hitter.

Thomas' Mark Morgan came away with the Most Valuable Player trophy award.

Nemo's needed a top of the seventh rally to break a 6-all tie to get past third place finishing Jake's Lounge in the semi-final showdown. Nemo's put two runs on the board in its last inning to win a cliffhanger, 8-6.

Jake's established a 2-1 lead after two innings, but Nemo's retaliated and scored four times in their third to take command 5-2. However, Jake's tallied single runs in each of the next four innings before succumbing to their area rivals.

Dennis Rogowski was charged with the loss. He gave up 13 hits, one less than winner Willie Boone who helped his cause with a single and triple. Bob Johnson caused most of the damage to Jake's defense as he collected two singles and hammered a homer which paved the way for four RBIs.

Jake's wasted T.C. Wilmot's exceptional batting performance as the veteran ball player clubbed a homer and two singles. Mates Norm Beasley and Ron Bernard connected for a triple and single.

Nemo's pounded out 22 hits and scored seven times en route to a 13-4 victory over Pittman's in other tournament action. Dave Gibson and Killenbeck split four singles while Nemo's received five RBIs from Gary Gentle who homered and singled. Bob Johnson and Moore each had four hits, including a double.

New World of Detroit was pelted with 17 hits as Pittman's claimed an easy 14-2 victory. Gray Mason drilled a triple and two singles off of loser Pat Mason who also gave up three hits to Killenbeck and two each to Terry Patterson and Randy Pittman.

Ricky Pittman received credit for the win.

Thomas handed Jake's its first setback of the series 11-5 as Tom Guilfoyle put one out of the park and also doubled for two RBIs. Morgan contributed three hits and Hubbs made his two hits count for three runs batted in. Bob Pinckney also had a double and two singles for the winners.

Mike Plagens led Jake's with a double and single, while Bernard picked up a pair of singles for the losers.

Beasley settled the issue in Jake's favor as he homered to snap a 1-1 tie and lift his team to a 2-1 victory over (See THOMAS, Page C-6)

America's No. 1 team

Only a few ball players have ever had their dream of playing for a world championship team come true. That happened last week for a handful of Wayne Ford Civic League ball players who captured the World Series and therefore the world championship of the National Amateur Baseball Federation's Junior Division. Members of the team included: Bob Foust (front row, from left), Dave Kernick, Mike Krauss, Bob Worden, Keith Riling and Mickey Newman; second row are coach Bob Bird, Donn Wolfe, Jeff Sweitzer, John Chmielewski, manager Jerry Pitcher, Dan Gabriele, John Dillon, Ralph Tack, director of Westland Parks and Recreation and Joe Cooley, WFCL athletic director. Sandwiched between the two rows with the championship trophy is Alberta Thomas, president of the Wayne Ford Civic League.

In Westland

Gals turn on defense

Defense was the name of the game played by the playoff qualifiers seeking the 1982 Westland Parks and Recreation Class B women's softball crown.

J & D Auto gave up two runs in the bottom of the second then blanked Westworld the rest of the way en route to a 4-2 playoff victory. Winning pitcher Cindy Williams gave up a pair of hits to Kelly Schultz, who doubled and had an RBI, and Judy Lazarowski, who collected two singles.

Schultz digested the loss as she delivered a homer and single to Geri Pizzuti. Kim Cesarz chipped in a single and triple to the winner's cause.

In other action, Varsity Club and Rocco's did all of their scoring in the last inning with Varsity Club winning a cliffhanger 2-1. In the top of the seventh, Eileen Johnson singled and was chased home with Anne Goll homered.

Rocco's staged a rally in the last inning that fell short by one run. June Evans, the winning pitcher, gave up a single and triple to Cindy Mobley, while Denise Canales was charged with the loss.

Varsity Club came up with four runs in the bottom of the sixth to rattle Westland Lock & Key 6-4. Winning hurler June Evans had her problems with Liggie Varona who collected a single and double and drove in two runs, while Debbie Lobb singled and tripled for the losers.

Jo Rayburn slammed a homer off of loser Tammy Mauno while Jan

O'Brien connected for three hits and Eileen Johnson had a single and triple for the winners.

In the only other playoff game, Westworld held off Rocco's 7-5 as the losers scored all of their runs in the bottom of the fifth. Schultz got credit for the victory as she twirled a six-hitter, giving up three hits, including a triple to Pat Hughes. Teri Mehrman also tripled and drove in two runs. Linda Saia had two singles for the losers.

Denise Canales also was tagged for eight hits in defeat with Michelle Crimboli accounting for three RBIs on a triple and single. Schiltz helped her cause with a pair of singles while Donna Crechilo homered.

Michigan Mile'

'The Shoe' a bridesmaid ... again

By SUE McDONALD
ANP News Editor

It was a stellar affair at the Detroit Race Course Saturday as a record crowd packed the track for the 35th running of the state's richest horse race, the Michigan Mile.

Although not as well-known as the Kentucky Derby or the Belmont Stakes, the race did attract its share of notables, including Willie "The Shoe" Shoemaker, who rode the odds-on favorite Recusant to a second-place finish behind Vodika Collins, which went off at 5-1.

Saturday's race wasn't the richest by far — its $150,000 purse, was $11,900 shy of the 1981 purse — nor did it have the biggest payoff to the winner. That honor also went to the 1981 Michigan Mile and its winner, Fio Rito.

What it did have, according to Bud Sears, director of racing at DRC, was a "very competitive field" with some big attractions, including the second-place finisher in the 1981 Preakness, Bold Ego.

The race card for the day was a crowd pleaser, Sears said, during pre-race festivities last Thursday. The "Mile," the final race of the day was preceded by one long race, five stake races and two $30,000 races, including the Dowling Prep Stakes, in which The Shoe rode Pensar to victory in the one-mile race. As Sears saw it it was the best race card in the history of horse racing in Michigan.

In all 40 horse were nominated for the 1982 Michigan Mile, with the field narrowed to 13. By race time Saturday the field had dwindled to 12, with Law Me, a four-year-old, a scratch.

Breaking from the starting gates in the "Mile" were Michigan-bred horses Thumbsucker, a 3-year-old colt who won the Lansing Handicap July 4, and North Rustin. Close behind were Bold Ego, with 12 wins out of 29 starts, Mythical Ruler, a four-year-old colt that captured the Governor's Handicap in a record track mile time, and Hechizado, a five-year-old that won the 1981 Brooklyn Handicap.

Coming around the turn for the home stretch, Lord Gallant, which went off as a long shot at 38-1, Bejilla, and Recusant, with The Shoe in the saddle, joined in the push for the winner's circle.

However, it was Vodika Collins, winner of the Cornhusker Handicap July 10 and the King's Handicap May 31, who rallied on the outside between horses to capture the 1982 Michigan Mile, giving its jockey Joey Judice his first $100,000 race.

Sears was right in describing the race as a very competitive field. The lineup read like a who's who in horse racing.

In the race was Bal Bay, a seven-year-old gelding that won three of this last four starts, including the Charlevoix Handicap; Bejilla, a five-year-old, that has won twice in six starts and finished second to Bal Bay in the Charlevoix Handicap — with-holding, a five-year-old that won the Ben Ali Handicap April 10 and has 10 career wins in 41 starts; and Lord Gallant, a five-year-old who came into Saturday's race with two wins in five starts, including an Aug. 2 win at Arlington.

But it was Vodika Collins day at DRC. He earned $99,840 for his owner, M.B. Collins of Kentucky, logged his 15th win in 39 starts and brought his lifetime winnings up to $423,605.

Wyrabkiewicz, who was the winning pitcher, gave up a homer, double and three runs batted in to Terry Johnson. Charlie Pierson also turned in with three hits, while Bob Fogarty and Ron Reid each had two hits.

In other playoff action, Bob Place turned back Leo Calhoun 14-9 as winning pitcher Al Hibskey gave up three hits to Larry Conn, a single and double to Tom Hendzell and three hits to Jim Garron.
Rich Nowak collected three hits, including a double and two runs batted in off of loser Mike Borders. Borders also served up three hits to Rich Legg while Tom McCloud and Hibskey each had two, their rivals 6-5 in their final encounter of the 1982 season. Kurt Kosten got credit for the victory, but not after Mike Cadwell, Dave Robertson and Ron Smith each carded two hits.
Loser Floyd Disbrow was tagged for a pair of doubles and a single by

2 to 2, Krugs scored three runs on hits by Linda Bodinovich, Cheryl Parent and several Beck defensive errors.
The top of the seventh inning, Krugs had a 5-2 edge, but, like with one out, Beck's Sharon Guthrie, blasted a triple. Kathy Bury followed with a hit that was bobbled by Krug's short stop and allowed one run scored.
Gerry Evanski followed with another base hit moving Bury to third.
Noel Bogardus sacrificed to left field to drive in Bury and moved Evanski to second base.
Two outs, the score tied 5-5 and Evanski on second base, Debbie Cammet drove a fly ball to the outfield, which was dropped and allowed the winning run to score. Beck's coach, Brad Kowetz, took his team to the Metro Detroit Regionals in Southfield the weekend of August 20 & 21 to compete against 20 other teams in hopes for a spot in the state championships.
Beck's must take first place in this regional to be able to go on to State Championship.
"We've got a tremendous chance to take it all," said Coach Brad Kowetz.

Billy Horn while Randy Fuller and Joe Groke each had two singles.

silence is not golden...

You're right! The space is empty. There isn't any ad. If you operate a business and don't advertise, the silence is anything but golden. Advertising is really extending an invitation to your prospects and asking them to buy your products or use your services. If you aren't advertising, you aren't selling.

High schools slate student registration

Plymouth-Canton, Wayne-Westland, Inkster students to register for class

In preparation for the first day of school, high school students in the Inkster, Plymouth-Canton and Wayne Westland School district will be reporting the next two weeks to retrieve class schedules.

In Wayne-Westland, currently enrolled students at Wayne Memorial High School will report Aug. 30-31 for their schedules, as well as turn in the emergency information card and pose for identification pictures.

The reporting schedule will have seniors there from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Aug. 30 and juniors there from 1 to 3:30 p.m. that same day. Sophomores will be at the high school from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Aug. 31, while those missing their assigned pickup times will be able to complete the pre-school work between 1 and 3:30 p.m. Aug. 31 and 9 to 11:30 a.m. Sept. 3.

At 7 p.m. Aug. 31, incoming sophomores will be invited to an orientation program to be held in the Norman O. Stockmeyer Performing Arts Center. The brief informational meeting for the students and their parents will be followed by a tour of the high school campus.

Students new to the Wayne-Westland District and Wayne Memorial should make an appointment to register for classes. Students must be able to prove they reside within the high school attendance area, as well as having up-to-date immunizations, before they will be allowed to enroll. Appointments to register can be made by calling 595-2200.

At John Glenn High School in Westland students will be reporting for schedules on Sept. 1 and 2 at which time yearbook and identification pictures will be taken. Locker assignments, bus schedules and various other school information will be distributed at that time.

Seniors will report between 1 and 3:30 p.m. Sept. 1, while juniors will be at the high school between 9 and 11:30 a.m. Sept. 2. Sophomores will report between 1 and 3:30 p.m. Sept. 2.

Makeups will be from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Sept. 3.

The high school also will hold an orientation program for incoming sophomores at 7 p.m. Sept. 7. A tour of the high school will follow the brief informational meeting for sophomores and their parents.

New students, transferring from another high school, can contact the registrar at 595-2300 for an appointment to register for classes. They also must prove they live in the Glenn attendance area and have a copy of their immunization record.

At Centennial Education Park in the Plymouth-Canton District, seniors for Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton High Schools will report for the fall semester class schedules on Aug. 26. Seniors whose last names begin with the letter F through the letter L will report between 8:30 and 9:30 a.m., while those with last names starting with M through R will be there from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. Last names starting with S through Z have been booked into the 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. time slot, while A through E names have the 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. time slot.

Juniors will be reporting on Aug. 26 and 27, with those with last names starting with F through L reporting at 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. Aug. 26 and M through R from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. that same day. On Aug. 27 juniors with names starting with S through Z will report from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. and A through E from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.

Sophomores will also report on Aug. 27, with F through L reporting from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m., M through R from 12:30 to 1:30, S through Z from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. and A through E from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Makeup times will be 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. Aug. 31.

While picking up their schedules Plymouth-Canton students also will turn in their completed emergency information card, pay the $15 book and materials deposit, and supply immunization information, if new to Centennial Education Park.

Students previously affiliated with the park will be required to bring the deposit account up to the $15 level.

Identification photos will be taken those three days for all students, with the picture taken to be used as the

For further information on the Plymouth-Canton schedules call 453-1300.

Standard procedures will be employed again this year by the Inkster High School in the registration of all students — those returning from attending last year and all new students. Students will register at the high school according to the following schedule: Ninth graders, Thursday, Sept. 2; tenth graders, Wednesday, Sept. 1; eleventh grade students, Tuesday, Aug. 31 and twelfth grade students, on Monday, Aug. 30. All students are requested to register between the hours of 9 and 11:30 a.m. or from 1 until 3 p.m.

Any students new to the district may register at the same times on Friday, Sept. 3.

Registration will be held in the main corridor opposite the counseling department. Lockers will be assigned and schedules and textbooks will be distributed at this time.

All returning students should bring their identification cards with them and new students will be issued cards during registration. Also, all entering ninth graders from Fellrath Middle School should bring with them completed health forms.

Classes for students will begin at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday, Sept. 8.

Any questions regarding registration may be directed to the school office, 722-6700.

Computer skills are key to future

By 1990, there will be nearly a 50 percent rise in jobs that require computer skills. This anticipated growth, says the Federal Bureau of Labor Statistics, surpasses all other occupational groups.

Thousands of students each year are leaving careers with uncertain futures and low salaries for more lucrative fields such as computers that promise to grow at a rapid rate in the next decade. And, for many of these students, the fastest way to start a promising career will be learning specialized skills from schools accredited by the National Association of Trade and Technical Schools (NATTS). According to Herzing, president of NATTS, "A lot of students are turning to our schools because they want to learn a skill that will be in demand. They are finding that even in hard economic times — such as we have now — our graduates are getting excellent well-paying jobs in a wide variety of industries."

The computer occupations — which include systems analysts, programmers, computer operators, keypunch operators, and computer service technicians — already increased 50 percent between 1970 and 1978 while the rate of growth for all occupations in the economy was only 20 percent. Advances in technology and the widespread use of computers in all industries are responsible for this rapid growth.

However, the computer field is just one example of careers that will be in demand. The Bureau of Labor Statistics lists 20 careers that will show the most rapid employment growth in the next decade. Of the 20 careers listed, 14 require vocational training.

For many young people searching for a new career, training at a career school has provided the answer. In fact, there has been a 25 percent increase in enrollment over the last two years in private postsecondary vocational schools. According to students, the attraction of these schools is that they offer faster training at a less expensive price than a four-year institution. The average NATTS course is about forty weeks, and tuition averages around $2,000. Because these schools depend on the placement of students for their success, they must offer careers that are in high demand in today's tight job market.

Herzing said he expects the demand for skill training to continue. "In fact," he said, "private technical schools are operating around the clock in certain cases to meet this demand." He also states that it's not just high school graduates entering these schools. More and more college graduates are enrolling in trade and technical schools in an effort to improve their career skills.

Trade and technical school graduates find success

It's true, getting a job in today's marketplace is getting difficult. But while thousands of individuals are finding jobs difficult to secure, trained workers, like those graduating from trade and technical schools are discovering the doors to many occupational opportunities open for persons qualified and ready to work.

Last year more students than ever before entered private career schools across the country seeking an advantage to tomorrow's jobs today. At a time when many schools are seeing smaller lines in the admission's office, the National Association of Trade and Technical Schools, which represents 500 accredited trade and technical schools throughout the United States, saw a 15 percent jump in enrollment during the 1981-82 school year. According to Henry Herzing, president of NATTS, there's no secret to the success of the trade and technical school industry.

"We have made it our business for years to train people in the shortest amount of time for the best possible job," said Herzing. "The big difference now is that more and more students are discovering we do what we say."

Graduates directly from high school represent the largest percentage of recruits each year for NATTS schools, but over the last five years these schools are accepting more college graduates, college dropouts, and displaced workers who are unable to find suitable employment.

"They're coming to us to learn a marketable skill," said Herzing. "They're smart enough to know that without proper training there's almost no hope of finding a good job."

NATTS schools offer students hands-on training for nearly 100 careers. As most of the career training programs were established to meet the needs of American industry, students usually have little difficulty finding employment upon graduation.

"That's the key," said Herzing. "We have emphasized our relationship to the world-of-work and our sensitivity and responsiveness to changes in the job market. Plus we try to meet the needs and desires of our students," he said.

According to Herzing most of the students attending trade and technical schools are excited by the shorter courses, the emphasis on specialized training with training unrelated to the occupational goal, and the chance to finish quicker.

"Our programs usually enable students to complete their training in two years or less," said Herzing. "This way, they can start earning a salary sooner and begin a promising career."

Most NATTS schools are small in size enrolling 250 to 300 students on an average. Teachers usually come directly from industry with years of career experience to teach students. In addition to many of the well-known trades such as automotive mechanics, carpentry, electronics, office machine repair and welding, NATTS schools offer students many other careers to choose from as well.

"Students are always pleasantly surprised to discover our schools offer training opportunities for jobs as a data processor, illustrator, jewelry designer, legal assistant, medical lab technician, legal assistant, real estate agent, tailor and X-ray technician," Herzing said.

Although NATTS schools are located in almost every state in the nation and enrollments are escalating, Herzing contends there are still thousands of individuals who never get an opportunity to discover these career schools.

"We're trying to give more individuals an advantage in the job market, but unfortunately we are not able to reach many people who could use specialized training to get a good job," said Herzing.

Each year NATTS distributes thousands of publications free. Last year, requests for publications ran just over two million. Since last September, nearly 360,000 people who wrote to NATTS at 2021 K Street, room 315, Washington, DC 20006-1007 received a free Handbook of Trade and Technical Careers and Training. The Handbook lists every accredited trade and technical school in the nation. For convenience, schools are listed by state and by the careers they offer.

Although contact with high school counselors and the distribution of material and information is helping more people to discover accredited trade and technical schools, Herzing believes there's still a long way to go.

"Too many people are out of work, too many people are disenchanted with traditional institutions and too many people are looking for better jobs," said Herzing. "It's our job to show these people that the best way to start a career is by learning a skill first."

Teachers are older, better educated and less happy

The average American public school teacher today is older, better educated, less well paid, and is less likely to choose teaching as a career if given a second chance than was the case in 1976.

According to a nationwide survey by the National Education Association (NEA), more than one in three teachers said they "certainly" or "probably" would not become teachers again if they were given the choice.

Other findings of the survey include:

- The average age of public school teachers was 39 in 1981, up from 36 in 1976.

- Teachers surveyed in 1981 had spent more time in college than those surveyed in earlier years. Nearly half the teachers surveyed in 1981 had graduate degrees, more than double the number that had them in 1961 and an increase of 12 percent from 1976.

- Teacher salaries are not keeping up with inflation. In 1980-81, those surveyed had a mean salary of $17,209, an increase of 43.3 percent from the $12,005 earned during the 1975-76 school year. But that increase was 14.1 percent smaller than the rise in the rate of inflation during the same period.

The report, titled "The Status of the American Public School Teacher, 1980-81" is the sixth in a series of portraits of the public school teacher that the NEA has made every five years since 1956.

Classy classroom attire

THE FIRST DAY OF SCHOOL is a little less scary with a friend along. Especially when you bring familiar classics like a corduroy vested skirt set and The Fox shirt to class too. Whether red plaid for girls, or blue and khaki for boys, everything is "first day" tough for kids and "everyday" easy care for mothers. All items for girls sized 4-6X and boys sizes 4-7 are available in JCPenney's Fall/Winter 1982 catalog and most JCPenney stores.

Handbook answers career questions

Thousands of people this year will ask themselves career questions — they might be graduating from high school; switching their career fields or finding out that their skills are outdated and no longer needed in the marketplace. For many of these people, learning a skill at a private career school can help provide some answers to their questions.

That's why NATTS publishes a free handbook — the Handbook of Trade and Technical Careers and Training. It lists more than 500 NATTS accredited schools.

GOOD HEALTH IS TRULY A FAMILY AFFAIR

PARENTS!

Good posture and proper spinal health care are VITAL for good health! We urge you to perform the four simple checks of your child's spine which are described below.

POSTURE CHECKS

1. SHOULDER CHECK

Have child stand straight. Both shoulders should be level. One shoulder high is an indication of problems.

2. HEM CHECK

Check a daughter's skirt hem to see if it hangs crooked — or if every new skirt purchased has to be altered on just one side.

3. BENDING CHECK

Have child bend straight forward from the waist, head level with the back and arms hanging relaxed to the floor. Check on either side of the spine to see if the muscles "bunch" up (one sign of scoliosis — curvature of the spine).

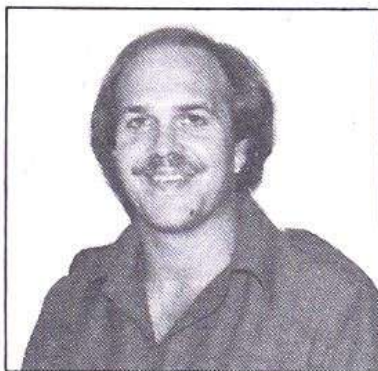

4. SHOE CHECK

Children wear out shoes in a hurry. This is expected. But if one shoe wears out well ahead of the other — especially if the wear is centered on the edge of the shoe — the possibility of spinal problems exists.

If any of these problems are present a professional examination is recommended.

Dr. Bill Hardin

Dr. Hubert Russel, Jr.

My sore legs and headaches disappeared

I was born with Diabetes Insipidus and have been taking medicine three times a day for my entire life. After all these years of taking medicine, I began to have sore legs and headaches and my height and weight was below average. My father began going to Dr. Russell for a sore back and legs. I always went with him for his adjustment and one day he talked to Dr. Russell about my illness. I was 9 years old at that time. Dr. Russell treated me and gradually my sore legs and headaches disappeared. Through his treatments my parents reduced my medicine. As of this day, I no longer take medication for my illness and my growth has increased five inches and I have gained eighteen pounds in 1½ years.

Our Family Plan

Reduces the Cost of Family Health Care

We often suggest that patients bring in their families for treatment. The usual reply we would get was, "I'll wait until I get better." Perhaps what they were really saying was that they just couldn't afford to have their entire family treated at our basic cash office fee of $12.00. When this happens, we explain our FAMILY HEALTH CARE PLAN.

This plan is designed to serve the needs of those patients who do not have full family health care insurance. We understand what a burden health care costs can be to those with large families.

Our FAMILY HEALTH CARE PLAN works like this: whenever two or more family members visit us on the same day the first family member would pay $12.00; the second family member pays only $3.00. After that, bring as many family members as you wish. The maximum cost to a family will be only $15.00 total. Three or a dozen, it makes no difference.

We have a genuine concern that families should stay healthy together. We want to extend good health to everyone. Remember, good health is truly a family affair.

Take advantage of our FAMILY HEALTH CARE PLAN. Call 283-2180 now for complete details. You'll be glad you did . . . and so will your family.
